Volume 4 Issue 1 January 2013

Contents

Editorial - Julie Hay 3

2nd EATA TA Research Conference 2012 – Those involved 4

Conference Programme 9

KEYNOTE: Transactional Analysis Psychotherapy Research: Three Methods describing a TA Group Therapy – Roland Johnsson 11

Drivers and Self Ego States in Social Cognitive TA: a research on drivers as protective strategies – Laura Bastianelli & Davide Ceridono 30

The Development of a Psychodiagnostic Instrument Based on Ego state, Impasse and Drama Triangle Concepts (ZESUI) – Kristina Brajovic Car & Marina Hadzi Pesic 39

Ego States in the therapeutic relationship and pre- to post-treatment change in Self Ego states - Davide Ceridono & Daniela Viale 49

Theory, research, clinical practice and training: a virtuous circle through Social Cognitive Transactional Analysis – Carla de Nitto, Susanna Bianchini & Maria Teresa Tosi 59

TA, relationship with one’s own learning process and strategic studying – Cesare Fregola & Adele Iozzelli 67

The mutually beneficial process of research and practical work - Roland Johnsson 80

The effects and effectiveness of being trained in Transactional Analysis. An empirical study - Rosa Nowak 81
Mastering ‘The Tolstoy Effect’: a research exercise in linguistic philosophy – Susannah Temple

Two studies on the effectiveness of Transactional Analysis Psychotherapy in an inpatient setting – Moniek Thunnissen

A Social-Cognitive Definition of Ego States to Implement TA Research – Maria Teresa Tosi, Carla de Nitto & Susanna Bianchini

Routine Outcomes Evaluation in Psychotherapy and Counselling within a Research Clinic - Outcomes and Reflection - Biljana van Rijn & Ciara Wild – paper removed at request of author

Case Study Research: A Primer – Mark Widdowson

Perceptions of Psychotherapy Trainees of Psychotherapy Research – Mark Widdowson

Surfacing the Organisation-in-the-mind – Sandra Wilson

Speaker Details

Sponsor Announcements

Volume 4 Issue 1 January 2013 .............................................................................................................. 1

Note: because several of the papers were provided by those whose first language is not English, there are some references that use the male pronoun to mean he/she, him/her etc. Rather than conduct extensive editing work, we ask readers to interpret these in the way they are intended, as referring to humans of any gender or sexual orientation.